

Lynnor Bontigao was 10 years old in the Philippines when she drew a story and stapled the pages together. After emigrating to the United States, she became a computer programmer but never forgot her love of drawing. Lynnor belongs to SCBWI, the Children's Book Illustrator's Group, and PuddleJump Collective.

“ I'D LOVE TO ILLUSTRATE a story about a strong family bond and finding inner strength; a plus if food plays a part in it, like Cora Cooks Pancit meets Marigold Bakes a Cake meets The Remember Balloons, or a simple, humorous book with a unique twist, like I Want My Hat Back. ”
