

Darin Shuler received a BA with a focus in illustration from The Evergreen State College. His first children's book, a graphic novel early reader, Dog & Hat and the Lost Polka Dots, is new from Chronicle, with a sequel to follow. Darin lives in Washington state with his family.

“ I find myself bogged down by the responsibility and schedule of being a grown-up, so I like to work on stories that feel like play; my ultimate goal is to take silly, magical, impossible ideas seriously and follow them wherever they lead. ”
