

Maggie Edkins Willis grew up in Maine before moving to Philadelphia to study design and art history at the University of Pennsylvania. Now a senior designer at Penguin Young Readers, she designs and art directs covers for middle grade and young adult novels. She has also illustrated covers for several books, including Lynda Mullally Hunt's Shouting at the Rain.

"I'D LOVE TO ILLUSTRATE something quirky, lovable, and super unexpected, like Little Bunny Foo Foo meets The Day the Crayons Quit.

