

Christina Barragan Forshay spent her childhood afternoons coloring, being inspired by cartoons, and playing soccer. Things haven't changed much! These days, when she's not drawing and painting in her studio, she's probably out playing golf, running, or hanging out on the soccer field with her family.

“ I'D LOVE to have a chance to work on something that reflects my Californian/Mexican-American roots. I also love illustrating strong kids and cuuuute animals. ”
