

Princess Bizares is a Filipino American author-illustrator born in the Philippines and raised in California. After declaring that she wanted to be an artist at age five, she has worked tirelessly to fulfill that dream. Much of her work is inspired by nature, her family, and her roots as a Filipino.

“Recently, I've enjoyed drawing whimsical animals wearing human clothes and doing human things. I'm also really passionate about creating artwork featuring different kinds of families, especially families like my own—big, beautiful, brown, and imperfect. Working on a picture book featuring either would be a dream!”
