

Francesca Mahaney received her BFA in Communication Design from Pratt Institute and currently works in educational publishing. She loves historical fiction and nonfiction, and she'd be excited to find a project featuring family life or outdoor play. When she isn't drawing, Francesca enjoys relaxing with her cats and watching musicals.

“ I LOVE projects that give me the opportunity to research new topics—the more niche the better! I'm especially drawn to stories that combine STEM with visual and performing arts or music. ”

