

Jacob Souva is an author-illustrator who used to think he was cursed with a runaway imagination and silly daydreams, but now he sees them as the bits that make up great stories. He's happy not to be cursed. He and his family live in a small community in upstate New York.

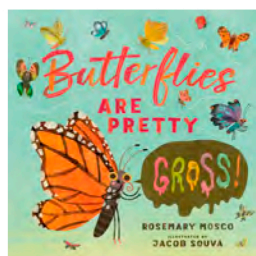

“ I'M PASSIONATE about stories that are equal parts humor and heart, share a unique and unexpected view of things, and elicit emotion from readers no matter their age. I want to be dazzled by unexpected characters and quirky turns. I also love illustrating bugs. ”

PUBLISHED

BEAMING BOOKS

TUNDRA

TUNDRA

