

Elizabeth Lampman Davis is a Florida-based illustrator with a degree in Creative Writing and Studio Art. She specializes in painting joy-filled characters, light, and magic. She has a passion for illustrating underrepresented families like her own. When she's not daydreaming or drawing, she's just another marketing professional being sat only by a cat.

“As a recovering empath, I'm here for all-the-feelings, dramatic characters in hilarious or horrifying situations. Bonus if there's a way to work in nature, magic, mystery, or imaginary places.”
